

Connecto is your Low Cost, Easy-to-use Electronic Connection to Doing Business with Major Retailers

Connecto is the simple, cost-effective way to connect with chain retailers such as Home Depot, RONA, Loblaw's, Home Hardware, Sobey's, Walmart, Kent and many more. Connecto allows you to easily send and receive business documents using EDI standards.

Because Connecto is a standalone app, you don't have to go to the trouble and expense of integrating it into your existing computer system. All you need to get going is a personal computer and Internet access!

Connecto features

Standalone functionality

User-friendly interface

No need for experts or consultants

Online support tools

Can be adapted to your accounting system

Makes it easy to share documents with your business partners

“Connecto allows us to exchange business documents and avoid the transactional fees usually associated with EDI. Since security and confidentiality are very important to us, that fact that the EDI documents are created by us and forwarded directly to our clients is very reassuring.”

Nelson Labbe, Moteurs Electriques Laval

“We chose Connecto because it’s easy to install and use. You don’t need to be an expert! Connecto is so user friendly that it’s accessible to everyone. In addition, we didn’t need a consultant or even programmers and we started exchanging EDI documents that same day.”

Mylene Guite, Maison le Grand

Your costs are guaranteed to remain low

Because our affordable fixed monthly rate covers everything, you don’t have to worry about accumulating per character charges that some other providers charge charges which can easily drive up your monthly fees.

With Connecto, you can receive orders and send out invoices hassle-free. And because Connecto is so user-friendly and easy to use, you don’t require any technical knowledge or the services of a consultant.
